

Podcasts

Scene on Radio: Seeing White (season 2 of podcast) -

<https://www.sceneonradio.org/seeing-white/>

The Nocturnists: Black voices in healthcare

The Nocturnists is an ongoing, medical storytelling podcast and in response to recent events this current season is focused on stories from Black voices in healthcare.

<http://thenocturnists.com/the-nocturnists-black-voices-in-healthcare> (on Apple Podcasts and many others)

The Praxis - <https://clime.washington.edu/praxis>

A podcast connecting theory and practice for health justice. Hosted by Edwin Lindo, JD, This podcast aims to directly address and explore the effects of racism and other forms of marginalization so that we can collectively achieve health justice. We will journey through history, theory, science & medicine by embracing storytelling, interviews, and community expertise.

Serial, Season 3, Episode 3 - shows you how the vicious cycle of structural racism in courts hurts generations. I trained in Cleveland where it is set.

(The whole season is excellent if you want to learn a lot more about numerous types of inequity in the criminal justice system)

<https://serialpodcast.org/>